

Association of Property and Exhibit Managers - BC

(APEMBC)

WHO WE ARE

APEM is a network of police exhibit professionals. The Association is a private, not-for-profit, provincial association in which membership is voluntary.

APEM has a membership of approximately 150 police exhibit clerks, exhibit managers and lab technicians from all regions of BC.

APEM is free to join and welcomes all persons employed in a position that requires them to manage exhibits and items for safekeeping in a police environment.

STATEMENT OF PURPOSE

APEM's expectation is that each of its members will consistently demonstrate the competencies of their profession and that they will maintain the highest standards of accountability and professional integrity.

APEM provides its members with networking, professional development opportunities and resources to enhance their proficiency in exhibit management. Sharing of innovative and best practices are integral components of APEM's mission. To help achieve that mission, it is expected that members will take advantage of networking opportunities and will actively participate in professional development events hosted or supported by APEM.

The desired outcome is that property staff will have the knowledge and resources to conduct their duties in a safe and professional manner which is up-to-date with industry standards and agency policy. APEM is not a certification or accreditation body.

In the final analysis, APEM's goal is that each of its members shall have a public service career characterized by knowledge and integrity.
